

“We are delighted to have George Third & Son working on TELUS Garden. Our design for the project is very complex and has demanded multiple mock-ups. This is a rare contractor who contributes meaningfully as a true partner in making our ideas manifest in the world”

—Greg Henriquez, managing partner,
Henriquez Partners Architects

Welding, cutting and forming steel is visible in the three large bays, and the forge rages in the blacksmith shop with an array of anvils akin to those George would have used in his day.

“We have a long history of doing what we say we will do, which is a co-operative, creative and innovative approach to steel delivery,” says Rob. “We service our customers’ needs by putting together the precise team of steel professionals for their project. Knowing our strengths includes getting partners to help us where we need it.”

An example of such a project includes working with Lister Chain &
